

Martian Luther king Jr

Martian Luther king Jr was born January 15 1929-April 4 1968.He had a long life of fighting for justice, peace, and freedom he also fought for his rights. For instance he got made fun several times and so did the other colored people like him.So he want to stand up for himself and his community and he did.

There are many people in our community working to further unity,justice,and love.

For one example Trail life! Trail life is like Boy Scouts but religious and is held at my church.It is a fun event that occurs ever Monday which often does services or helps others people around our community which is really cool. It mostly does fundraisers for the community like helping a country like Honduras or Dominican Republic if a storm where to wrecked the whole place. So they really help the our community.

Another example is school service hours. So let's just say ( this is a made up number) but you need 8 service hours. You could first start by helping out your community so see if there are any fundraiser near you or close to you that you can go to or ask a friend and both of you can do a project that helps someone either with people in need or just helping around someone's house if they allow you.

The last example is a retirement home there are a lot of people these days that are done with there jobs and really old and sometimes can't take care of themselves so there are retirement homes that can help people like them. Sometime they will help you learn how to do things by yourself if you have a hard time doing them and can let you try things on your own. It is a fun community to be around. Everyone is really nice there and it is a joy to be with them.

Even thought Martin Luther king Jr died we still remember his perseverance and his fighting heart for his people and him.We will always follow the way he treated others because he did it in a kind way.

No matter what Martin Luther king stood up for himself even though he got bullied and made fun of because of his color of skin. So I think we should all stand up for our selves if you think something is wrong. Thank you!
